Always stuck on words,

Now in middle school, I am reading correctly, No more frustration.

If speech was not there, I would still be struggling, Proud of my speech

We both had many therapists to help us with our speech, The therapists tried hard to teach.

We were willing to try anything that was thrown ou direction, Our attitude had a strong conviction.

Therapist to therapist they helped me. Sound to Sound, I practiced. For years I've been working to perfect sounds.

I'm not perfect-never will be, but we're

Im not perfect-never will be, but were growing.

Awareness is growing.

Awareness is couldn't tell if I were intelligible. I'm now somewhat knowing.

Improving day by day, I am growing.

Slowly but swelly. I'm moving towards my gools, till one day when I will conquer

Speech March Madness

March: Our Students are Scoring Big! 🌼

March Madness is Here!

It's Marchl There are so many great ways to celebrate this month, including Dr. Seuss' birthday Women's History Month, and St. Patrick's Day, Our speech students were ready to celebrate March Madness this year. Students casted their votes through three rounds of competition to find out which book is the ultimate favorite. Using Google Forms, all students were able to participate. Our big winner is a "fan" favorite, There Was An Old Lady Who Swallowed a Clover by Lucille Colandro. The students enjoy reading each story version, trying to predict what themed item the old lady is creating before the story ends.

If selected:

- ► You, your principal and speech supervisor will receive an invite.
- Contact and register your students and their families for the celebration.
- ► Each winner will be allowed ONLY 2 guests
- Presentation at Central UFT in Manhattan.
